Trustee Wolfinbarger Says Antioch Should Have More Playgrounds

Carl A. Wolfinbarger, retiring village-trustee, has offered his service in a recreation program for the youth of Antioch.

Little League baseball teams are being organized for boys between the ages of 8 to 12. Interested boys may sign up with Mr. Richard Whitacre at the Antioch Grade school.

Wolfinbarger, who with Trustee James Maplesworth attended their last regular meeting of the village board last week, made an appeal to Mayor James McMillen and the board to develop the new park as a recreation ground for young people.

"We have enough picnic grounds in this area; you can find them all around the lakes. What we need is a place for the younger kids to play ball and other games," said Wolfinbarger.

The trustee said that the only baseball diamond for young people is at the high school and that is in use by the older boys.

"Our grade school boys don't have a baseball diamond," he reiterated. "The only tennis court we have are at the high school and when the new addition is built they will be lost," he added.

Wolfinbarger made his plea while suggesting that a delegate be sent to a recreation meeting in Chicago.

President McMillen said that the money now in the park fund will be needed to construct rest rooms and the baseball grounds will have to come later.

"We can only do one thing at a time and we have to take up the greatest needs first," he commented.

127 Students Get X-Rays For TB, 61 Adults Tested; Mobile Unit Here Apr. 20

Richard Whitacre, member of the board of directors of the Lake County Tuberculosis association, today released the results of the recent chest x-ray survey among the students and teachers of the schools in the Antioch area.

Only those students who reacted positively to the tuberculin test were x-rayed on the association's Christmas Seal Mobile Chest X-ray Unit at Antioch Township High school on March 14th. Students from Antioch Grade school, Channel Lake, Grass Lake, Lotus Country, Emmons, St. Peter's, Hickory and Oakland were brought to the high school for x-rays. Whitacre said. Teachers and other adult school employees were x-rayed also.

A total of 127 students received free chest x-rays. Of these, only one was asked to report to the association's free chest clinic for further study and examination because of suspicious shadows on his film. One bone abnormality was noted among the students also.

Teachers and other adults through the unit at the high school totaled 61. Only one of these also, was asked to visit the clinic.

The mobile unit will be in Antioch on April 20 to x-ray the chests of the general population. Whitacre said. It will be at the Regal China Co., in the morning and on Main St. near Lake St., from 2 to 9 p. m.

Whitacre hopes that the parents of these students who reacted positively to the tuberculin test will have a chest X-ray at this time in an effort to trace the source of the child's infection.

Everybody's Headache

A good many people seem to think that most retailers must be having a wonderful, trouble-free time these days. About all they have to do, the argument runs, is to put bigger and bigger price tags on their merchandise and watch the fat profits roll in like the sea.

Those who really believe that would do well to read the proceedings of retail conventions, and the magazines and house organs which deal with retailers' problems and activities.

The biggest thing retailing has to fear—and this goes for small stores and large, the chains and the independents—is high and rising prices. It is a nightmare to every store owner and executive.

There are two main reasons for this. First, American retailing depends on big turnover, at a small profit on each sale. High prices force families to cut their buying to the limit. People are priced out of the market. So, the retailer, right along with the consumer, is directly harmed.

Second, contrary to a widely held misconception, high prices do not mean high profits in most cases. The merchant gets more for his goods—but his cost of buying those goods and paying his overhead has in many cases risen to a greater degree. So it is not uncommon for the storekeeper to find that his net profit is actually less than it was when prices were much lower than now.

In any fight against inflation, the consumer can count on the aggressive help of the retailer. Self-interest alone makes that a certainty.

Miracle

Press and radio recently featured the amazing case of a Negro woman who was found frozen in a Chicago alley in a condition which bordered on rigor mortis. Her body temperature, pulse and respiration were all so low that it seemed impossible that she could survive—no one in a similar condition ever had. However, skillful and unremitting work by doctors, nurses and hospital attendants resulted in a miracle—the woman lived.

An unusual comment on the matter appeared shortly thereafter in the Arkansas State College newspaper, which said, "To us in the United States, this case appeals mainly as another wonderful accomplishment of modern medicine, but in countries with socialized medicine, the citizens are struck dumb at another miracle. This miracle is the time consumed by the hospital staff on one patient."

"In socialized medicine countries, doctors and nurses are plagued with insignificant cut and bruise cases and innumerable neurotics who must be cared for under penalty of the law. Each patient is allotted a certain amount of time. Hospital staffs cease to take a personal interest in their patients and haven't the time to care for the patients as individuals."

"Although the medical profession in this country is accused of being mercenary, and some arguments can be given to support these accusations, socialized medicine is not the cure."

In other words, medicine is one place where the mass-production idea does not fit. We must never destroy that fine relationship between doctor and patient which has been built up so painstakingly under our system of free medicine.

The Low Down from Hickory Grove

With the measles or the flu—and which if you take care of yourself you most of the time come out okay—is this spending epidemic we been in for years, and for which we been neglecting a remedy. We have not even examined the patient's diet—the patient is now flatter on his back than we been thinking—and the income tax man is at the door again. Nothing has been done to get the Govt. and country back to where it has the strength to paddle its own canoe versus borrowing more, and taking more, and each year-end being further in the hole than the year previous.

And what happens? Here comes war preparedness. The Govt. and every village, town, and county is up to its collarbone in debt. But to save our bacon, get more guns, more everything, we have no nest-egg—no balance in the bank.

We gotta decide, folks, if we are going to cut-out the flub-dubs, win the war preparedness program, or if we will just drift along as we been doing. I say, we gotta up and tap the mayor and the congress and the president on the shoulder and read the riot act—and now—not maybe pretty soon. Paul Revere was not foolin' when he saddled his horse and sounded the alarm. He even woke 'em up in the middle of the night. He was just in the nick of time.

Yours with the low down,

JO SERRA

D-X Plans Advertising Campaign This Season

Paul I. Adcock, of Waterloo, Ia., Northern Division Manager of Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation, announced the opening of the largest advertising campaign in the Company's history at a meeting held yesterday at Aurora. One hundred D-X distributors, salesmen and dealers attended the meeting and were given a preview of the advertising and sales promotion plans that will be carried out during the spring and summer season.

The men enthusiastically applauded the spring-summer advertising that was unveiled at the meeting, particularly the newspaper campaign that will appear in more than 900 newspapers, the most comprehensive advertising effort ever undertaken by the Company. Mid-Continent, long a consistent newspaper advertiser, has enjoyed large sales increases every year since 1933 when D-X Lubricating Gasoline was first introduced to the motoring public, due mainly to the impact of local newspaper advertising.

This year, station displays will highlight the protection features of the gasoline, the specially refined lubricant that is added to D-X to provide for vital power parts of the motor's "flame zone." Because surveys prove that this year's motorists are more wear-conscious than ever, the D-X protection appeal is expected to be more powerful than ever.

The meeting at which the advertising plans were announced was attended by Ronald Gaa, John Gaa, Antioch and Art Storch, Lake Villa.

Wall Pictures

When pictures are hung on the walls in groups, it is best to have them approximately the same size and pertaining to the same general subject. Framing the pictures in a similar manner also will improve the over-all effect.

Jobs from Steel

Nearly half of all the jobs provided by America's manufacturing industries depend upon the manufacture and use of steel.

Polar Bears

Although animal keepers of the circus easily recognize most of their charges by facial expression, the "poker-faced" polar bears have sometimes stumped the experts. One trainer painted identifying spots on his newly acquired polar bears to help out until familiarity with their habits made it possible for him to tell them apart.

Trichomoniasis

Trichomoniasis, a bovine venereal disease that causes abortion can be spread to cows through artificial insemination.

Safe or Dangerous?

Poisons, skillfully used, often save the lives of sick animals, while too much of a supposedly safe drug can be harmful. For example: curare, a deadly poison, is used in treating various conditions in animals. On the other hand, mineral oil, generally considered harmless, can upset the nutrition of the body if given repeatedly in large doses.

Storing Liquefied Gases

The rapid strides that have been made in low temperature processing and the growing interest in bulk storage of liquefied gases resulted in an increased use of the straight nickel steels during the early part of 1950.

Tanner Demands

Sole leather tanners report greater demands for lightweight leather soles these days, especially from southern states and California. New England still demands extra thick leather soles for winter wear, as do other cold-weather states.

Helping America in Peace and War for 75 years

This year is the telephone's seventy-fifth and busiest birthday.

What began as a line between two rooms in a Boston attic in 1876 has developed, in one lifetime, into a Long Distance network that covers the nation—and extends to most of the world's telephones.

This great system has grown in answer to the needs of a people. And it's a good thing it has. In these threatening times, the Long Distance lines that bind this country together are more vital than ever.

For today they are helping to speed production and guard the nation's security—jobs that call for nothing less than the best telephone service in the world.

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

To help speed your Long Distance call, please give the operator the out-of-town telephone number. Telephone lines are busy with national defense.

America's Largest and Finest Low-Priced Car!

The Styleline De Luxe 4-Door Sedan
(Continuation of standard equipment and trim illustrated is dependent on availability of material.)

Yes, LARGEST...

and the facts speak for themselves

It's LONGEST in the low-price field, a full 197 1/4 inches of spirited action and clean, sweeping lines. It's HEAVIEST in the low-price field, a staunch and solid 3140 pounds in the model illustrated. It has the WIDEST TREAD in the low-price field, a road-taming 58 1/2 inches between centers of the rear wheels. Longer, heavier, with wider tread... that's the measure of Chevrolet's rock-solid value... big in looks, big in handling and riding ease, big in road-hugging performance. Why settle for less than a Chevrolet... when Chevrolet is the lowest priced line in the low-price field.

Yes, FINEST...

and here are the plain-spoken reasons

FISHER BODY QUALITY, renowned for solid and lasting goodness. UNITIZED KNEE-ACTION RIDE, smooth and gliding. VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINE ECONOMY, spirited performance at lowest cost. PANORAMIC VISIBILITY, with a big curved windshield and large window area. JUMBO-DRUM BRAKES, biggest in Chevrolet's field. SAFETY-SIGHT INSTRUMENT PANEL, with shielded instrument lights. POWERGLIDE AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION, billion-mile-proved, combined with 105-h.p. valve-in-head engine optional on De Luxe models at extra cost.

Good reasons why MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

Library Notes

Two interesting books, one already very popular and the other destined to be greatly in demand, have been given to the Antioch Township Library in memory of the late C. J. Roeschlein. In "Out of this World", Lowell Thomas, Jr., relates the high adventure of a journey across the Himalayas into the fascinating land of Tibet. In picture and prose, we visit the 200,000 lamas and monks whose rule is absolute.
Their superb architecture and exotic dances provide colorful contrast to the primitive and devout life of the people sustained by their Buddhist faith.

Elizabeth Goudge has long desired to write a life of Christ. She believes that in these days of darkness and fear we should believe in his "courage and love will hold us firmly through life and through death." In "God so Loved the World", Miss Goudge follows humbly and reverently the life of the Lord, quoting constantly from the New Testament and interpreting and describing the shifting scenes of His life among men.
"Here I stand, I cannot do otherwise. God help me." Over 400 years ago, a simple monk faced the emperor of the Holy Roman Empire and with these words defied his accusers Roland H. Bainton has named his remarkable biography of Martin Luther with the opening words of Luther's cry of defiance.
"Here I Stand" is the story of Luther's work and religious problems which had such a dramatic impact on the sixteenth century and have vitality influenced the centuries to follow. "Here I Stand" was presented to the library in memory of August H. Rentner.

Track Meet at H. S. Postponed for 2nd Time

A track meet scheduled to take place at the Antioch H. S. field last night, (Wednesday) was postponed until this evening, on account of rainy weather and wet conditions on the field. The weatherman has not done much better today and it seems likely that the meet, which was to have seen the locals pitted against Grant, will not be held.

Trap Line in Heart Of Baltimore Pays Off for 19-Year-Old

BALTIMORE, Md. — One of the most prosperous trappers in the United States is 19-year-old Paul Diller — and he never leaves the City of Baltimore.

In fact, his 300 traps are staked out in the back yards of north and northwest Baltimore. His trap line is a part of the Maryland game and inland fish commission's program to remove wild life from areas where it is a nuisance and put it in places where it will provide sport for Maryland hunters.

Paul catches from 600 to 700 squirrels, skunks, possums and chipmunks every month.

The youth had quite a bait problem when he first began trapping. He started out with hard shelled corn, but soon the pigeons began robbing his traps.

He shifted to green walnuts. But the squirrels quickly grew tired of them. Next came an experiment with roasted peanuts. The neighborhood children found out about that. End of experiment.

Now he uses raw peanuts. It's the ideal bait. The squirrels love them. And the children don't.

By the time the bait problem was straightened out, another headache set in. Folks along the trap line got to feeling sorry for the squirrels and began to release them.

Since the traps are set only in areas where they are requested because of small animal damage, such sabotage is difficult to understand.

One woman who requested trapping service, then freed the squirrels, gave this explanation: "I just wanted to teach them a lesson."

Most of the animals caught are squirrels, but the bag this past season included 20 skunks, 50 possums and a number of pigeons, rats, bluejays and chipmunks.

So far, only one cat has been unwary enough to slip into a trap. Paul has had no trouble with the skunks. "It's all in knowing how to handle them," he said.

Most Educated Policeman Retires After 28 Years

BOSTON, Mass. — The most educated policeman in the United States has retired—and he was still a patrolman.

Edwin D. Flanders, B.A., B.L.L., LL.D., retired after 28 years in the department's lowest grade—despite his three college degrees.

He explained that he liked being a patrolman and had never been interested in advancement. He's a bachelor of arts from Portia law school, a bachelor of literary interpretation from Emerson College and a doctor of laws from Boston University.

Flanders says he "might write a book" now that he has retired.

Stratosphere Barrier Will Be Hot for Rocket Ships

HAVERFORD, Pa.—Explorers into space are going to find it difficult to penetrate a heat belt the American Astronomical society reported recently.

The astronomers reported the discovery high above the stratosphere of an unexpected air barrier. It is the heating effect of the upper air at 60 miles and higher. The heating is about twice as much as had been previously calculated.

The practical meaning is that rocket ship engineers will have to plan to limit the ship's speed in those altitudes so that the metal or whatever else the ship is made of will not melt from friction.

Even now the metal noses of high altitude rockets sometimes get red hot in this friction. It was explained that the heating would not prevent rocket travel, but the speed while leaving the earth must be adjusted to fit the excess heat.

The discovery was made with the aid of laboratory shooting stars. These stars imitate the melting and the evaporation of meteors that hit the upper air and burst into blinding flames.

Women Are Good Detectives, Criminologists Report

NEW YORK—Women are naturals in the field of private investigation, assistant dean of the New York Institute of Criminology reports.

For reasons best known to other women, feminine investigators do a more thorough job of snooping, assistant dean Emma Predick says. "With their suspicious minds and natural curiosity, they work out very well," Miss Predick teaches both men and women the finer points of shadowing and writing up reports.

You can't go right from the 13 week's course to your own detective agency, since a man or woman needs three years of experience before getting licensed as a private investigator.

"But there are many requests now for people to serve in factories, screening war workers and just generally protecting the plant," the shadowing expert said.

Policemen have become accustomed to seeing the slim, well-dressed instructor start off an eager group of students on complicated shadowing assignments up and down Broadway.

SHORT STORY

Fresh Fish

By Richard H. Wilkinson

"TN HEAVEN'S name," Tommy Hunter cried, "why can't we get married? We love each other! There is nothing that stands between our complete happiness, but the consent of a bl—"

"Of my father, Tommy," Dolores interrupted him gently. "That is a big obstacle, my dear. In my country, girls do not marry without the consent of their parents."

It is tradition, Tommy. "Rats," said Tommy. "You mean you won't break it! You don't love me!"

"Tommy!" "All right," he said. "I can't see it your way, but I guess I've got to take it and like it."

He left her abruptly, crossed the sun-bathed patio of the old Spanish hacienda and entered the door on the opposite side.

Inside the small room Tommy saw a white-haired old man taking his ease in a chair near a window.

"Senor Jacinto," the youth began, "I come to you again and for the last time and in all humbleness to ask the hand of your daughter."

"And for the last time," interrupted the old man angrily, "I refuse. My daughter is descended from a noble and proud family. She deserves a husband of distinction and wealth."

"You mean," said Tommy, "that you will sell your daughter to the man who will lend you enough money to increase your measly fish business. A fish peddler dishing out stuff about noble ancestors! Bah!"

"Get out of my house, you American adventurer! And if you come back once more, I will turn you over to the police!"

Back at his hotel Tommy's spirits sank to a low ebb. He had not the remotest idea how to persuade Senor Jacinto to consent to his marriage to Dolores.

Suddenly Tommy leaped to his feet. He could not provide funds to help Dolores' father expand, but on the other hand...

Early the next morning the streets of Ortega rang to the cry of "Fish! Fresh Fish!" delivered in a strange and foreign dialect. Housewives rushed to their doors and smiled over the odd sight of a blond-haired American youth pushing a cart in front of him on which reposed a canvas tarpaulin covering great quantities of fresh fish. Curious, they stopped and questioned him, were astonished to learn that his price was far below that of Senor Jacinto.

NEWS of the oddity spread rapidly and before noon Tommy had sold out his supply. On the next day it was the same, and again on the day following.

A week passed and Tommy had worked up a nice business. Occasionally he saw Senor Jacinto, but the old man passed him by with never a word, but glowering looks.

On the eighth day Senor Jacinto stopped him on a deserted street. "This is an outrage! Ortega is not big enough for two fish dealers. One of us will have to go."

"What a pity you are planning to leave the land of your birth where you own a fine house and have many friends."

Senor Jacinto choked with rage. "It is you who will go. I was here."

On the eighth day Senor Jacinto stopped him on a deserted street. "This is an outrage! Ortega is not big enough for two fish dealers," he said.

first. I built up the fish business here. You will have to go!"

"Gladly," said Tommy. "The moment you consent to my marriage to Dolores. I am not a fish dealer by trade. I am a surveyor. I would like to continue to be a surveyor, but not alone."

"Never!" shouted the angry man. Tommy shrugged and shook his head sadly. "It is a pity." "Fish!" he called at the top of his voice.

"Fresh fish!" Senor Jacinto nearly burst a blood vessel. "Stop!" he shrieked. "The very sound of your voice is like a knife in my side. Take my daughter and the devil with you both! Only leave me in peace!"

Dolores was waiting in the patio when Tommy came for her. "You are a very good fish peddler," she said. "Will you always be a fish peddler?"

"Only," said Tommy, "if your father should change his mind about consenting to our marriage."

Open Fishing Season

Mayor James McMillen and son, Jim, 14, officially opened the fishing season yesterday with a good catch of bluegills and croppies. They find success in fishing at 5:30 a. m. and at dusk in the channel near Northshore Gardens. They say that a few sunny days will improve the fishing still more.

Dumb People Are Better Drivers, Teacher Reports

WASHINGTON—Richard Talbott, who operates a concern called the University Driving Laboratory in nearby Hyattsville, Md., says generally speaking, people with so-so intelligence make better automobile drivers than the smart folks.

That's a controversial statement, but he should know. Talbott teaches all kinds, from the very dumb to the awful smart, how to drive an automobile.

During the war he instructed other soldiers in the art of piloting a jeep. Since then, operating his own business, he has taught hundreds of civilians how to drive. So far as he knows, only one customer has had a serious accident.

"He was a physicist working with an atomic project. I predicted he would crash and he did. A dumb person is concerned only with getting where he is going—and concentrates on that alone. An intellectual is up in the clouds. This particular person was perhaps dreaming of test tubes, Bunsen Burners, and Geiger counters. He made a wrong turn."

Learned to Drive Young

Talbott, who calls himself a "paid back seat driver," learned to drive at eight years old in an Essex that was too old to move, and took to the road on a test run when he was 10. He had a driver's license when he was fourteen.

The first thing he tells his students—most of them women of middle age—is that the automobile was invented because people are too lazy to walk, "so take it easy."

And Talbott has a kind word for women. "They learn what they are doing faster, but I had better qualify that a little. They are not as skillful as men after they have learned the fundamentals."

Sometimes he runs into problems. Like the woman he was instructing how to signal that she was getting ready to stop.

"Bend your arm down," he commanded.

"But," the women protested, "my arm won't bend down."

He showed her how to bend an arm down.

There are others who are interested only in learning enough to pass a driver's test.

Simple Road Rules

The expert has a few simple rules which he hopes will rub off on the public, as well as the people who pay him to learn how to drive:

1. Look at the road, not at the guy coming to you or the one you see is about to pass you.

2. Drive your car, not the other fellow's. Don't try to anticipate what he's going to do.

3. Don't switch lanes unless you are positive you can make it. And don't forget that in no car yet built do you have perfect vision fore and aft.

4. Be courteous. Give the other fellow a break.

Boy's Atomic Torpedo Idea 'Interesting,' Navy Says

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Tommy Pearce, 10, a fifth grade pupil in Arlington, Va., called on Rear Adm. A. C. Nobel, chief of the navy's ordnance bureau, recently to explain an idea for attacking the Communists with an atomic torpedo.

The lad took a detailed chart showing how a "button" in the nose of the torpedo would set off an atomic explosion.

"I think that when you find a way of setting off a bomb by inducing electricity into it, that you should make an atomic torpedo," the young designer wrote. "You could use it in attacking enemy shore batteries. I hope you can use this plan."

The admiral told Tommy that his plan was "very interesting" and that he had sent them to navy engineers working on torpedoes and bombs.

"It is quite possible that some of your ideas may already be in use or may be included in new designs," the admiral told Tommy.

Iodized Salt Is Blamed For Slowdown in Midwest

CHICAGO, Ill.—Dr. Charles Sellers of Chicago says the iodine put in salt to prevent goiter may now have swung the pendulum the other way in the Great Lakes region.

For those with goiter, iodized salt has been a boon, he points out. But for those who have had normal thyroid glands, it has been harmful. The extra iodine has caused their thyroids to become sluggish and their body chemical activity to slow down.

Symptoms are sleepiness, increase in weight, awkwardness and an inability to take cold weather.

Goiter was once a major problem in Great Lakes cities because of the low iodine content in the drinking water. The region was known as the "goiter belt."

In the mid-1940's iodine was added to salt and the cases of goiter diminished over the years. But the iodine apparently works on all thyroids, normal and abnormal.

Dr. Sellers recommends patients with hypothyroidism should use a noniodized salt.

SHORT STORY

The Jackpot

By Ona Freeman Lathrop

THE night was a murky one. Only the stark bulbs sending their light through the steaming windows of Joe's Diner relieved the darkness. Bill Owen lounged against the door wondering whether to go in. He found the lone nickel in his pocket. It would get him a cup of coffee anyway.

"You here again?" Joe kidded. "What'll it be—porterhouse?"

Bill grinned. "Hand me a menu. I might want breast of guinea."

Then he noticed the girl. She stood by the pinball machine watching the metal balls roll down as a fellow played. There was something about her that made Bill feel uneasy inside. The rain had pelted her hair into thin honey-colored wisps around her small face. She hugged her old polo coat about her. There was a searching look in her grey eyes as she scanned each face. They made him think of somebody.

That was it! She reminded him of the way his kid sister, Kathy, might have looked. Kathy had that same kind of hair and that same expectant look on her face, even at twelve when he left home. Kathy was probably quite a girl by now! It made him wince to think of home.

He watched this one fingering the change in her cheap purse. It was only chicken-feed, but she selected a nickel carefully and put it in the slot. Somehow her eyes were too bright as she followed the dancing balls down the incline. It looked as if a lot depended upon whether or not she won.

Bill slid off the stool and went over. No kid should look like that. He fished out his nickel.

"Here, kid. It's about due. Let me show you how."

He whanged the lever down and gave the machine a little whack at the side. The nickels poured out. As he filled her hands with them, she gasped, "But they're yours."

"Na-ah! G'wan and take 'em, and then go across the street and get yourself a room at Ma Johnson's. It's no night for dames to be out alone," he added gruffly. She hurried out.

An old sofie, eh? He could have had a bed himself and a blueplate special. Fool!

"Cup of java. Joe. On the cuff. I'll be in the chips again soon."

Joe grinned. "Yeah? Not if you play Sandy Claus to all the dames. That one's been hanging about all evening giving every guy that came in the eye. Looking for some one, she said."

THE door slammed and Bill looked around. Here she was back again. She was coming straight toward him. Well, he was through. She wouldn't try any more tricks.

She slid onto the stool beside him. "Listen, mister, what's your name?" she asked breathlessly.

"J. Pierpont Morgan. What's your's—Barbara Hutton?"

"No, seriously. You remind me of some one. I didn't notice at first—I was so set on winning at the pinball. Could you be Bill Owen?"

"Yeah, I could. Why?" He eyed her curiously.

"Because I've been hunting you. I've covered every joint like this, hoping I wouldn't find you in such a place, but knowing I would. You always had the crazy idea you could get rich the easy way, ever since you hit the jackpot the first time you played when you were a kid. Well, where did it get you?"

She was out of breath now. "She was out of breath now."

"Hey, how do you know so much?" he demanded.

"I'm Kathy, your sister Kathy. Oh, Bill, Mom's sick and she's been asking for you. You've got to come home with me."

"Yeah? You are Kathy then! And they'd want me to come home—even this way? Na-ah!" He flicked at his ragged cuff.

"Sure. They knew you weren't making good, or you'd have been back. They just want you to come home—to make Mom better."

Her big grey eyes were welling with tears and her hair hung down wispier than ever, but she was Kathy and his kid days and home all rolled into one. He slipped off the stool and took her arm. He'd been playing out of luck, but at last he'd hit the jackpot.

"Come on, then," he said. "What are we waiting for?"

Superflies

Resist Mighty DDT

CORVALLIS, Ore.—A. W. Lindquist, an entomologist at Oregon State College, says science is raising a race of superflies.

The housewife believed that with the development of DDT the problem of the summer fly had been solved. Now it comes to light, however, that the insecticide is just making them tougher.

Tougher flies began to develop a resistance to DDT after 14 generations. They became almost totally immune after 58 generations.

These flies have 150 to 250 times the resistance to DDT as the ordinary house fly. The super-race resists not only DDT but other insecticides.

Lindquist is treating flies with tiny droplets of radioactive DDT just to see what goes on inside their bodies.

After the fly is placed under a Geiger counter, the scientist can tell how much of the DDT has been absorbed.

When experimenters discover how the superfly staves off the poison, it will be an important step toward finding a newer insecticide that will work.

Skinning Grapefruit

To cut grapefruit or oranges in to skinless sections, peel them like an apple, beginning with the blossom end. Using a sharp knife, remove the white as the fruit is peeled. Then cut down each side of the partitions and remove the section whole. Remove seeds from section before using.

Cattle Branding

Cattle branding is in the best movie cowboy tradition, but is sometimes an expensive practice. A heavily branded cut of sole leather hide is worth about 40 percent less than the same without the brand.

Livestock Rations

Balanced rations pay dividends in disease control and higher market value of livestock.

Ice Cream Production

When milk production is lowest, ice cream uses smaller amounts. When milk is in surplus production, ice cream uses large quantities—thus upholding prices when they would be low and making no demands when they ordinarily would be high.

Dairying

Factors favoring the development of small dairy herds are artificial breeding, better market facilities, better forage and pasture programs, and a greater need for a regular income necessary for high living standards.

Cow Care

Injuries to the teats and udder should be treated promptly, because even a small scratch can become a breeding ground for the germs that cause bovine mastitis.

Hog Protein

At least 20 per cent of the protein a hog eats should be of animal origin (such as tankage) for most efficient production.

Safeguards Workers

More and more manufacturers, plant, mill and factory owners are utilizing color to minimize accidents in operating dangerous machinery. Machinery is so painted that its color will contrast with the material or metal being worked on. Walls and floors are also painted in light colors to utilize all illumination. This makes dangerous working parts stand out more distinctly. The chance of accidents caused by poor visibility is thus reduced.

Why 365 Days?

All because of a river, there are 365 days in a year. When the ancient Egyptians made the first calendar about 4241 B. C., as a means of measuring time from the moon and sun, they decided to reckon a year by the 365 days between the highest points of the Nile flood.

Although only a specialist can scientifically determine the type and amount of hearing loss, answering the following questions may give you a clue as to whether your hearing is up to normal.

Write
Yes or No

- Do you find people seem to be "mumbling" or slurring their words when they talk to you?
- Do you hear better in noisy places than in quiet ones?
- Are you bothered by head noises or "ringing" in the ears?
- Do harsh loud noises seem actually painful?
- Do you find that, at one moment, you cannot hear someone speaking to you and, at the next, they seem to be shouting?
- Can you hear the sound of a voice but find it difficult or impossible to understand what is being said?
- Do you seem to hear better with one ear than the other?
- When a group of people are talking, do you seem to have trouble hearing?
- Do you have trouble hearing when going to church, listening to the radio, television, or when seeing a movie . . . do you have trouble hearing your children, grandchildren?

If your answer to any one of the above questions is "Yes," you may have a hearing loss. If your answer is yes to more than one question, your hearing is probably impaired. In either case, you should send for the FREE check "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear" or see your local Bellone Hearing Service Consultant at
